A Sharp Exposé and Scathing Critique of Misguided and Misguiding American Leaders

Dr. Tiffany B. Twain, creator of the Earth Manifesto
June 2017, with updates through January 3, 2019

Please give these clear-eyed Big Picture understandings close consideration. This is the first of 16 incisive essays in See Clearly: Sanity During Insane Times - Book Twelve of the Earth Manifesto. This book contains eminently accurate assessments of all the ways politicians are looting the country, excessively exploiting working people, lying to their constituents, cheating American citizens, betraying the best interests of the majority, manipulating people by hijacking their emotions, rashly depleting natural resources, tragically damaging the environmental commons, ridiculously irresponsibly mortgaging the future, and immorally sabotaging the common good.

In a bona fide liberty-loving democratic republic, the people are protected from being ruled with excessive ruthlessness by wealthy dominion-demanding rich people and their organizational tools -- giant corporations. Or for that matter, being governed by demagogues in repressive authoritarian regimes, or by religious fanatics. We the People generally prefer fairer and more honest governance. We want a more broadly inclusive populism in which we are offered better opportunities and more assured freedoms, and we want greater social justice to reign from sea to shining sea. We want to live in places where the air is not polluted and the water is not tainted with toxins, and where a reasonable modicum of environmental justice prevails. We want to be able to enjoy our lives and liberties and individual pursuits of happiness, and we want a fairer society that is more inclusive, and thus enjoys improved social cohesion that makes for greater mutual security and more peaceable coexistence. To establish these social goods, we must demand that our representatives honestly refocus our national priorities.

To really improve matters, a more widely shared prosperity is needed, and improved security for the populace and adequate investments in social safety net programs and better protections of the environment. These propitious conditions are needed at the same time that our leaders are not running the country into risky levels of debt by fraudulently borrowing trillions of dollars to bribe voters and nefariously give the lion's share of the spoils to the top 1%. To achieve these common good goals, we need leaders who will respectably champion fair reforms and act with more honorable ethical integrity, and stop imposing more and more austerity measures on the people in order to give unconscionably big tax cuts on the highest levels of income and inheritances to the already wealthy.

A Big Picture Focus

To actualize the greater good, we must be guided by more comprehensive concerns -- ones that take into account The Common Good, Properly Understood. Most folks see that the status quo is rigged irresponsibly against the vast majority of the people. As a presidential candidate Donald Trump promised to fix this, in a deceitful assurance that was part of a pathological con job. Instead of taking effective steps to honestly fix things, conniving Republican politicians stole the 2016 elections and then began imposing an unbelievably long litany of manipulative schemes, scams and frauds against the people in their nearly two years of illegitimate and chaotic rule. The sordid details of this excessively short-term-oriented infamy are spelled out in these essays.

Lord Acton, a member of the British Parliament in the late 19th century, once famously wrote, "Power tends to corrupt, and absolute power corrupts absolutely". The Founders of our great American experiment in democratic governance understood this basic political truth, and this is why they created a U.S. Constitution containing effective checks and balances to prevent corruption, despotism, demagogic abuses of power, self-dealing by politicians and taxation without fair representation. Ever since the Constitution was ratified, there has been a broadly progressive evolution of laws, rights and protections that have helped make our democratic republic broadly providential in assuring the majority of people a fair modicum of liberty, justice and reasonable cause for being able to share in the American Dream of opportunity, equal treatment, and fair dealings under the law.

The truth in Lord Acton's words are about to be revealed anew by the bright light of subpoena power that the new majority of Democrats in the House of Representatives will now exert to fulfill the responsibility given to them in the Constitution to wield oversight over the Executive Branch and federal agencies. They will set the legislative agenda and hold investigative hearings beginning in early January 2019. This means the American people are about to see many more details of the corrupt activities, malfeasance, and conspiratorial cover-ups that Republican politicians have been scandalously engaged in while they exerted domineering One Party power in the executive and legislative branches of government for the past two years. And when Special Counsel Robert Mueller's investigation reveals its incriminating findings about how Trump Republicans and Russians conspired together to help give domineering power to honesty-deficient, unprincipled and corporate kowtowing Republican politicians in the USA, then the depth of illegitimacy and wrongdoing will become much clearer, and a crisis of reckoning will engulf our public sphere. See Clearly will provide good plans for how to deal with this!

As a pathetic consequence of the ways the status quo is rigged, the ruling class is waging class warfare and wantonly endangering and outright harming hundreds of millions of people in the USA and around the world. And right now, "conservative" politicians are doing the bidding of corporate CEOs by trying to eviscerate government regulations, causing us to lose sensible safeguards against cost externalizing schemes, environmental damages, roguery, insider trading, illicit money laundering, influence peddling and all manner of worse-than-the-mob scams that include criminal tax evasion, Charitable Foundation fraud, violations of campaign finance laws, bank fraud, risky bailout-courting excessive financial leverage and brazen emoluments improprieties.

Think of how fanatically misguided it is for corporate entities to be allowed to exercise domineering power. The two main legal purposes of corporations are to maximize profits and minimize responsibilities and liabilities of CEOs and managers and investors. As a result, corporate entities are driven to externalize costs, foisting them onto you and me -- and onto everyone in the future, to their inevitable eventual hardship and titanic chagrin.

The Vital Role of Women in Politics

Gender inequities are among the harshest of all injustices in our patriarchal society. Martin Luther King once famously declared that injustice in health care is the most shocking and inhumane of all forms of inequality. Injustices related to basic health care, pre-existing conditions and reproductive rights are particularly opprobrious to women, and they are just one aspect of a multitude of gender inequities, including many being exposed by aggrieved women through the #MeToo movement.

Congratulations to the record number of women who won political office in the midterm elections! This was an achievement long overdue. While many good women were successful in their election contests, many more like Stacey Abrams in Georgia were cheated out of power by the GOP political machine. Women have been broadly kept out of power in our sexist patriarchal republic ever since it began. This unjust disenfranchisement of the best interests of females has enabled significant discrimination against women in compensation and benefits, and in less job security, an exceedingly hard-to-break glass ceiling, sexual harassment, violations against both the dignity and safety of females, and many episodes of domestic violence, in addition to discrimination based on race and harsh deprivations of reproductive rights. Women of the world, unite! Men, give us greater respect.

Let us philosophize. The legacy we leave to every person in the future is the most consequentially important consideration for us collectively, and we need farsighted guidance from our leaders and institutions to ensure that aggregate impacts of all our individual choices and activities do not too severely compromise the hopes of people in future generations to live in a healthy and sustainable world. Let's help prevent a dystopian future!

It is crucially important for humankind to make accurate assessments of the big challenges we face in the world today so as to find the best plans for propitiously dealing with these existential challenges. We need our leaders to be more honest and honorable by striving to promote the common good, instead of allowing shrewd opportunists to use divisive propaganda and demagogic deceit to harmfully exploit working people and consistently favor the interests of corporations over individuals, and excessively deplete natural resources while wantonly damaging the environmental commons.

Here's the bottom line. The tree of life is under furious assault, with wildlife being driven toward extinction and the richest biological habitats being decimated, sadly especially including beautiful coral reefs and tropical rainforests. And threatened species and endangered species are being sacrificed to hunters, real estate developers, fossil fuel profiteers and zealous exploiters of public lands.

We humans are treating planet Earth like it is a business in liquidation, converting natural resources to cash at nearly the fastest possible rate. Compounding this insidiously consequential folly, shrewd ruling factions are making damned sure that economic and political systems are rigged so that the resulting wealth and power are ever more narrowly concentrated in the hands of the few. This is being done to the dramatic detriment of the vast majority of the people, with mounting costs and risks being foisted onto the masses, and onto every person in future generations. This tragic scheme is being made worse by leaders who are rashly running up national debts by borrowing huge sums of money and ensuring that most of the spoils of this fraudulent burdening of future taxpayers are given to the same wealthy people who are grabbing most of the benefits of this uber-scam. This debt stimulates spending in the economy, partially masking the ill effects of increasing inequality and dire disparities in security and well-being between the fortunate few and the struggling many.

History and the Present

The brilliant design of checks and balances in our government was developed to prevent despotic abuses of power by making sure that no branch of government could become too powerful. The U.S. Constitution was created to divide power between the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government, and includes various limits and controls on the powers of each branch. When one party manages to gain control of all three branches of government, it allows a culture of corruption to fester, and opportunities for tyranny to reign.

Ruthlessly shutting opposing political parties out of power is an extraordinarily detrimental and unethical ruse, for it is contrary to democratic fairness and personal freedoms. When political power is dominated by a single political party, it allows greed-driven compulsions to propagate, and protections to be decimated, ambitions to go unchecked, authority to be usurped and abused, political corruption to proliferate, wealth to be increasingly concentrated in the hands of the few, and exploiters of public lands and mineral resources to proceed full speed ahead, treacherously externalizing costs, socializing risks and tragically damaging the commons. Democrats have been shut out of power until the 2018 midterm elections delivered control of the House to them (effective January 3, 2019). Treacherous Trump Republicans have demonized Democrats, to boot, so voices are being ignored that propose excellent solutions, like a Green New Deal instead of climate inaction, and a better deal for working people in place of the current Bad Deal most workers are experiencing. Our leaders must deal more honest with big challenges like economic inequalities and climate injustices, and with the unimaginably dire and costly consequences of an insidiously unfolding greenhouse gas double-glazing of our home planet. We must come together and demonstrate much greater regard for future well-being and sustainable human existence.

Our colonial forbearers were outraged at despotic usurpations and abuses of power by King George III, so they courageously declared independence from the British monarchy in 1776. Then, twelve years later, delegates representing the people of the new nation ratified a great Constitution that had been hammered out during four months of contentious consensus-seeking at the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia the prior summer. A primary purpose for the creation of this commendably good guidance in our democratic republic was to ensure that sufficient checks, balances, accountability and safeguards were established in the government to protect the people from having any future despots or demagogues seize power, usurp it, and blatantly abuse it.

These eminently respectable Founders declared that the government's legitimacy itself, and its moral right to use the power of the state, are only justified and lawful when the people who are subject to that political power give their consent. This theory of consent is historically contrasted to the divine right of kings, and was often invoked as a charge against the legitimacy of colonial empires. Article 21 of the United Nation's Universal Declaration of Human Rights formally confirmed this ultimate gauge of legitimacy, stating since 1948: "The will of the people shall be the basis of the authority of government".

Far-reaching corruption in electioneering and governance are currently undermining fairer representation of the people and violating the common good, rendering Republican rule really illegitimate. The GOP political machine has been formidable in its zealousness for gaining control and abusing power. Their primary means to victory have been by pandering to rich conservatives and illicitly allowing Big Money to corrupt our elections and lawmaking. The Republican political machine has been ruthless in its use of hyper-divisive tactics and distorting Fox propaganda news to brainwash its followers, telling them Big Lies and deceiving them and distracting them from big issues. "Conservative" politicians are betraying the vast majority of the American people by means of bait-and-switch treachery and their fiscally irresponsible Tax Cut bribery scam, financed by borrowing trillions of dollars from every taxpayer in every future year. They have engaged in a "casino capitalist" hyper-stimulus of the economy to goose profits and funnel them to the few, and drive unemployment down while ramping up materialistic resource depletion and the damaging exploitation of public lands. In this, they are foolishly sacrificing sustainability and future well-being to gain short-term advantages for themselves and their cronies.

The GOP political machine has been ruthlessly formidable under Trump. Republicans have demonstrated that they will do anything to win, no matter how unethical and immoral, and no matter how divisively antithetical to creating a more perfect union, and contrary to the general welfare of the American people, and undermining of individual and national security, and damaging to domestic tranquility, and tragically harmful to the common good, and insidiously threatening to hopes for securing "the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

These understandings are not "fake news". It should be clearly recognized that journalists and investigative reporters in the free press -- "the Fourth Estate" -- make the media vitally important to democracy for informing the public and serving as a check on abuses of power in Congress, the White House, the judiciary and the corporate world. Great reporting is coming out of the Washington Post and the New York Times, and on MSNBC, serving our democratic republic commendably in this moment of unfolding constitutional crisis. In pathetic contrast, Fox News and conservative talk radio hosts are confusing the national dialogue, giving cover to abusers of power, rationalizing wrongdoing, pushing fake news and Big Lies, whipping up violent rhetoric, promoting hate, and using divisive tactics to push a far right agenda and the politicization of the judiciary.

Since the legitimacy of leaders in our democracy relies on the consent of the governed, and since Republicans represent only a minority of the people -- and considering that the 2016 elections involved much devious intrigue and downright illicit activity - Republican leadership in the White House and Congress right now is cast in the stark light of infamy. It should be acknowledged that most of the people who supported Donald Trump gave their consent only after being subjected to an unprecedented barrage of deceitful, divisive and manipulative propaganda that hijacked their emotions, goaded their fears, stoked resentments, scapegoated immigrants, propagated malicious cyber-attack disinformation, promoted a raft of really Big Lies, riled up racial prejudices, caused hate crimes to spike, and stoked white male nativist nationalist tribalism in millions of individual echo chambers across the land of the free. And they have indulged in unethically debilitating, anxiety-inducing and effectively diabolical machinations targeted to make people believe that the Supreme Court should be stacked with anti-gay and anti-choice Republican judges who just happen to side with prerogatives of corporations and wealthy people over the best interests of the majority of the people.

Not only did Republicans achieve their 2016 election wins through their long litany of illegitimate means, rather than by offering people fairer representation of their best interests and the common good, these scheming hyper partisan politicians have governed with ruthless unreason. They have double-crossed the American people by ruling with unrelenting deceit, cunning chicanery, discriminatory zeal, widespread conflicts of interest, contempt for rules of law, extreme ecological myopia, risky fiscal irresponsibility, un-Jesus-like moral turpitude, too many extremist rulings in legal cases targeted to enable wide-ranging malfeasance, and an anti-egalitarian agenda that panders mercilessly to the elite few, with little evidence of honest integrity or caring for the many.

From January 2017 to January 2019, the Trump administration and the Senate and the House were all run by narrow majorities of conservative politicians elected by a minority of the people. And these politicians ruled as if they had won a landslide mandate to impose a harsh right-wing agenda. In this, they are abusing authority and rashly refusing to compromise with representatives of significantly more than half of the people.

Given the pronounced illegitimacy of such rule, federal courts are the best hope for the people to be protected from a myriad of harms and wrongdoing. Unfortunately for all, the foundational independence of the judiciary is being seriously compromised by Republican politicians right now, for they are stacking federal courts with young "conservatives" judges for life who tend to injudiciously favor patriarchal sexism, "right-wing social engineering" and an exploitive economic agenda that helps facilitate corporate corruption and an anti-egalitarian and anti-environmental and undemocratic crusade against the common good. Let's demand more mainstream justices!

A Spotlight on the Crucial Role of the Supreme Court

Supreme Court Chief Justice John Roberts engaged in a revelatory Twitter dispute with Donald Trump after Trump tweeted about an "Obama judge" having made a decision against the constitutionality of an effort to keep desperate migrants from applying for asylum. "We do not have Obama judges or Trump judges, Bush judges or Clinton judges," Roberts said in a statement released on Thanksgiving eve. "What we have is an extraordinary group of dedicated judges doing their level best to do equal right to those appearing before them. That independent judiciary is something we should all be thankful for."

Trump almost immediately reacted by tweet from his vacation home in Florida: "Sorry Chief Justice John Roberts, but you do indeed have 'Obama judges,' and they have a much different point of view than the people who are charged with the safety of our country." That was really maniacally twisted spin!

Both of these "eminences" are partially right. Roberts was right, we do need to be thankful for the judiciary still being somewhat independent, though Brett Kavanaugh's rushed confirmation is a step backwards because it strengthens domineering rule by the minority party and reprehensibly reinforces the status quo of corporate power, uncompromising extreme partisanship and improprieties in campaign financing and voter suppression, along with patriarchal sexism, racial discrimination, and a general culture of corruption that is spreading like a cancer, corroding the foundations of our society. And Trump was also right, our judiciary has indeed become too politicized -- but it is Republican judges that are the most biased toward enabling abuses of minority power and giving excessive influence and advantages to rich people and corporate entities, crony capitalist robber barons and religious fundamentalists.

I appeal to each and every judge in the federal judiciary to really honestly and honorably try to do their fair-minded "level best" by keeping consequential ethics in mind and the Big Picture considerations evaluated in See Clearly. And Supreme Court Justices should much more honestly honor the oath of office they have sworn to, that they "will administer justice without respect to persons, and do equal right to the poor and to the rich."

Trump has appointed more judges than any president in history, thanks to the machinations of Mitch McConnell and other Republicans in the U.S. Senate who refused to allow President Obama to fill dozens of vacancies on federal courts and one on the Supreme Court. And biased "Trump judges" will be tilting the scales of justice for decades to come, making partisan rulings that favor rich people over poor folks and those in the middle class, capitalists over working people, corporations over communities, Republican politicians over Democrats, men over women, white people over people of color, rigged elections over fair elections, partisan advantage over ethical propriety, those who gerrymander over those disadvantaged by gerrymandering, dishonest propagandists over honest journalists, fearful citizens against immigrants and asylum seekers, gun rights fanatics over those who support sensible efforts to reduce gun violence, irresponsible profiteers over common sense protections of public lands and the environmental commons, evangelical religious zealots over women and gay people, Christians over Muslims and Jews and agnostics and atheists, an extreme agenda over the general welfare of the people and progressive national plans, reckless short-termism in letting resource exploiters deplete natural resources instead of championing conservation, the Republican Party over the Country, and climate change deniers over advocates for wise precautionary principles and the greater good and sustainable well-being.

Efforts by Republican politicians to entrench a right-wing majority on the Supreme Court are targeted to make sure that the narrow "Roberts Five" majority will continue to be able to impose its will over the people by making more narrow 5-to-4 rulings that side with the Few over the Many and elites over populists. And in the biggest scheme of things, Republican politicians want to have a majority of far right judges on the Supreme Court so that they will allow Donald Trump to get away with breaking election laws, engaging in intrigue with Russians who used cyber-attacks to weaken our democracy and help Trump get elected, violating many rules of law and provisions of the Constitution, and perpetrating a lifelong raft of shady money laundering and tax shenanigans.

This is corruption incarnate! Seeing clearly, the American people should renounce this effort to stack the highest court in the land with Republican partisans. Donald Trump chose Brett Kavanaugh over all other possible nominees because he is the most likely person to act as an enabler of abuses of power rather than as an independent check against corruption, fraud, influence peddling, political malfeasance, sexual misconduct and the anti-egalitarian, anti-environmental and anti-democratic litany of right-wing Republican agenda priorities.

Kavanaugh is a lifelong Republican partisan who will likely help decide people's fates on the highest court in the land for a generation or two. He suspiciously happens to be far outside the judicial mainstream in having professed the belief that courts should show great deference to the power of the presidency, possibly even when that power is used contrary to the law or ethical norms, or fundamental values, or the ideals espoused in the Constitution itself. Kavanaugh should not have been confirmed for the rest of his life as a Justice on the high court because of the fact that he is likely to protect Trump from accountability for his dishonesty, breaking campaign finance laws, cyber-attack collaborations, emoluments profiteering and various violations of the Constitution. Right now, with so many misdeeds being uncovered related to the 2016 elections, and with more Robert Mueller investigation revelations impending -- and with so many brazen abuses of authority going on -- it is a terribly wrong time for Republicans to have succeeded in appointing a cunning judge to the Supreme Court who will take the side of the "Roberts Five" in rationalizing, enabling and facilitating much of the egregious wrongdoing that is taking place.

The Supreme Court must act as an effective and ethical check against abuses of power. Just as Donald Rumsfeld once stated, "You go to war with the Army you have -- not the Army you might wish you have", we simply can't trust Congress and the President to act morally and constitutionally, since right now the current Administration and rogue Republicans in Congress are acting like functionaries enabling wrongdoing. So we must choose judges who will fairly and impartially decide cases in ways that reasonably limit inimical abuses of authority by rich conservatives and giant corporations and the scheming politicians they have bought.

We the People have historically feared attacks from abroad, so it is ironic that we are now experiencing such existentially big threats to our democracy from within. We can no longer tolerate Republican politicians in Congress abdicating their responsibilities of honestly representing the people and serving as a check against Trump's abuses of power and the permissive reining culture of corruption.

A Biblical Perspective

Since the goal of establishing a government with strong checks and balances that can stand for time immemorial against both domestic despotism and foreign tyranny is at the very heart of the U.S. Constitution, it is tragic that our democratic republic, dedicated in founding ideals to serving the common good and the general welfare of the people, has devolved today into an illegitimate state by allowing a demagogue and his nodding co-conspiratorial minions to seize power and brazenly abuse authority and conspire with foreign authoritarians like Putin in Russia, Erdogan in Turkey and Mohammed bin Salman in Saudi Arabia. This is inimically antithetical to the best interests of the citizens of the republic.

Republicans are putting their Party over country by using terribly divisive tactics to succeed in sacrificing the common good to the monomaniacal pursuit of power, profit and personal advantages in our corrupted crony capitalist system. In so doing, these politicians are causing excessively myopic and consequentially harmful impacts. It is no wonder that many folks judge their worse-than-Machiavellian schemes as "acts of evildoers".

According to Proverbs 6:16-19 in the Bible, there are six things that the LORD hates, and a seventh that is an abomination unto Him: haughty eyes, a lying tongue, hands that shed innocent blood, a heart that devises wicked schemes, feet that are swift in running to evil mischief, a false witness who speaketh lies, and a person who sows discord among brothers. In light of Donald Trump's manipulative demagogic evil genius strategies and narcissistic character disorders, the Goddess of Irony grumbles ominously. And the sounds of singing reverberate through our consciousness, moving our attention inward, subtly swaying our consciences. Listen! It is the melodious voice of marvelous singer-songwriter and activist Holly Near, voicing these evocative lyrics:

"I ain't afraid of your Yahweh I ain't afraid of your Allah I ain't afraid of your Jesus I'm afraid of what you do in the name of your God."

Think honestly of the long litany of profoundly corrupt scams and unethical swindles and shrewdly illicit schemes that "conservatives" have used to win elections and grab power. Keep in mind that most religious evangelicals are supporting Trump Republicans, in an egregious instance of hypocrisy. These politicians have engaged in almost every possible illegitimate ruse, rather than more genuinely trying to promote the greater good and improve the general welfare of the people. They have suppressed the vote, purged voter rolls, restricted early voting and made extreme gerrymanders of hundreds of congressional districts, all to advance their self-interest and treacherously do the scurrilous bidding of rich people and giant corporate entities. They have refused to take steps to prevent influence peddling and limit the corrupting effects of Big Money given by donors, often in secret, to decide elections and rig our laws and pervert our system of justice. They have cheated, lied, divisively stoked hot button cultural issues, taken advantage of people's fears and grievances to emotionally manipulate them, and engaged in duplicitous smear campaigns, character assassinations and dirty electioneering tricks. And they have traitorously encouraged Russian cyber-attacks and disinformation campaigns, promoted fake news and inimical political conspiracy theories, denied facts and expertise to push their shortsighted and narrowly corrupt agenda, threatened their opponents with jail or violence, and broken laws by using hush money to cover up Donald Trump's scandalous adulteries. Yikes! Let us meditate.

See clearly what's happening here, and why it's so seriously wrongheaded. Wealthy donors, led by secretive Koch conclave co-conspirators and Sheldon Adelson and other well-heeled cronies, have colossally corrupted our economic and political systems, using Big Bucks and Dark Money. Encouraging this corruption, five conservatives on the Supreme Court gave their stamp of approval, stating in their narrow 5-to-4 majority opinion in the 2010 Citizens United ruling that Big Money in our elections cannot corrupt our politics -- "or even create the appearance of corruption." Really! They expressed this wrongheaded opinion despite the plainly evident extent of corrupting influence in allowing rich donors to decide almost everything. "Not a puppet, not a puppet!", Trump-like characters exclaim, in almost comically diabolical denial.

All of these indignities are being exacerbated by the fact that many of the scams being perpetrated are sad examples of malfeasance and activities that bend or outright break rules of law, and even violate the Enlightenment Era ideals upon which our Constitution was founded. The American people are being subjected not only to this litany of ruses and outright frauds, but to deep psychological distress and insecurity due to the extremely divisive nature of the Demagogue-in-Chief's attempts to blame others and stoke prejudices and pit people against each other. "United we stand; divided, the despots win." The Underground Mole shouts out, "Reject these uncivil, decency-deficient, unpatriotic and anti-democratic villains!"

We are living in a Bizarro world in which Republicans have abandoned stances that they long stood for, as Max Boot points out in his compelling book The Corrosion of Conservatism: Why I Left the Right. Max Boot is a lifelong conservative writer and historian who succinctly states that he has been utterly dismayed since the 2016 national elections by witnessing "the Republican Party switch its position on issue after issue -- going from free trade to protectionist, from pro-immigration to nativist, from tough on Russia to appeasing Russia, from fiscal discipline to fiscal irresponsibility, from defending the rule of law to undermining it."

In light of all the misguided and illicit actions being taken by Trump Republicans in the world today, Dr. Tiffany B. Twain proclaims: If Donald Trump really had a shred of moral integrity, he would repent of his dastardly deeds, admit his sins, fire Vice-President Mike Pence and then resign from office. The Constitution stipulates that their successor will be the Speaker of the House -- Nancy Pelosi, as of January 3, 2019. As for Brett Kavanaugh, he should resign from the Supreme Court, allowing fairer representation in the halls of power, and the well-qualified consensus candidate Merrick Garland should be appointed to fill the vacancy he leaves.

Ideas like this are expansively evaluated in See Clearly. Note that there are plenty of excellent solutions to all the big challenges we face, and we urgently need to begin undertaking them. They should be guided by a Bill of Rights for Future Generations, and by Intelligent Precautionary Principles Enunciated. And they should be informed by the propitious worldview and recommendations made in my first book, Common Sense Revival.

Chaos in the White House is dangerous to national security, and the revelations about it resemble an intrigue-packed thriller novel. The respect-deserving investigative journalist Bob Woodward has painted a harrowing portrait of the Trump presidency in his latest book Fear: Trump in the White House, which is based on many in-depth interviews with officials in the Trump administration and other principals. Bob Woodward relates the dramatic story of Trump's lawyer John Dowd peppering him in the White House residence with questions about the Russia investigation, "provoking stumbles, contradictions and lies until the president eventually lost his cool." ... "This thing's a goddamn hoax," Trump finally erupted, and launched into a 30-minute rant that finished with him saying, "I don't really want to testify" to the Special Counsel Robert Mueller and his team of investigators. I guess not! After all, his lawyer John Dowd reportedly warned him that he would likely end up in prison wearing an "orange jumpsuit" if he were to testify under oath in the Russia investigation. He should know!

Republicans in Congress have evaded their Constitutional duty to exercise oversight over the President and members of his administration. In response, Democratic Attorney Generals have been filing lawsuits against the rogue regime at a record pace, blocking Trump's cruel "zero tolerance" child separation policy, and defending women's reproductive rights, and fighting for protections of the environment, which is critically important in sustaining us and everyone in the future. Many state Attorney Generals are thus acting to create crucial accountability, which is needed to stop the worst harms of the domineering self-interested Republican agenda. "The inability and unwillingness of Republicans in Congress and state legislatures to hold this administration and others in power accountable means that our system of checks and balances rests with state attorneys general, who are filing lawsuits against Trump when he violates tenets of the Constitution and rules of law."

What We Must Do About the Excessively Risky State of the Status Quo

Republicans assert that their agenda is being undermined by "a vast left-wing conspiracy" and "an angry, left-wing mob". In sharp contrast, Hillary Clinton famously declared back in the 1990s that there was a "vast right-wing conspiracy" against her and President Clinton and progressive causes. Since every American is being veritably bombarded with an intense barrage of competing claims and obfuscating propaganda, it is hard for us to know what really to believe. We need to think straight, and see clearly.

It is crucial for us to ferret out the essential truth of this matter, since the consequences for our lives and for the lives of all humans forever hereafter will be profoundly affected by the environmental, ecological and climatic decisions being made today, and by our resource depletion activities and the extent to which we allow cost externalities like pollution and toxic wastes and associated medical care to be foisted onto society, instead of demanding that our representatives take effective steps to prevent and alleviate such harms. Likewise, the impacts of our economic, business, financial, regulatory, social and political activities powerfully affect people living today, and will affect the fate of all people in future generations. So our systems should be redesigned to be more in accord with visionary progressive understandings like those articulated in Common Sense Revival.

To figure out whether the biggest threats to us will be found in left-wing schemes or right-wing schemes, let's be smart and "follow the money". Look what's happening here. Left-leaning politicians are calling for better and more affordable healthcare, improved public education, lower interest rates on student debt, comprehensive immigration reform, greater fairness in political representation, stronger protections from corporate wrongdoing, smarter regulations to prevent harms and cost externalizing schemes, bigger investments in the country's infrastructure, urgent climate actions, big reductions in the amount of money borrowed by the government to finance tax cuts for the top 1%, a fairer and less racially unjust system of criminal justice, better solutions to the deadly opioid crisis, lower prices for prescription drugs, the end of punitive marijuana laws, thorough investigations into election malfeasance and violations of rules of law and the Constitution, and international cooperation to pay forward economic stability and more broadly shared prosperity for our heirs.

In glaring contrast, right-wing politicians are using outrageously divisive tactics to grab and keep power, and they are stacking federal courts and the Supreme Court with far right conservatives who inimically favor wealthy people over poor people and corporations over workers and citizens. They staunchly oppose campaign finance reforms and expanded voting rights and fairer representation of the people, and they take steps to entrench corrupt governance by engaging in extremely partisan gerrymandering of congressional districts. They are abusing their illegitimately gained power by dangerously running the country into trillions of dollars of additional debt to reward wealthy donors with huge tax cuts. They are trying to obstruct justice and cover up criminal wrongdoing by Donald Trump and his crony co-conspirator Republican politicians. They are giving coal and oil companies more privileges to push their products and spew more greenhouse gases into the atmosphere, with inevitably damaging and catastrophically costly impacts related to global warming, including more intense storms, extreme temperatures, worse droughts and wildfires in many places, ominous rises in sea level and storm surges, and growing numbers of people devastated by extreme weather-exacerbated natural disasters.

In the big picture, unprincipled Republican politicians have used twisted trickery in the form of the most egregious bait-and-switch scheme ever by promising to champion the best interests of the working class and people on Main Street, and then doing the bidding of rich people and corporate entities by crippling the ability of workers to collectively bargain for fairer treatment. At the same time, they are imposing austerity measures on the masses by cutting spending on healthcare, public education, environmental protections and many other hallmarks of a civilized society. They are simultaneously giving lavish benefits to rich people, Wall Street banks and corporate interests, to the detriment of the vast majority of the people. In these rash schemes, they are undermining the common good and the general welfare, sabotaging the environment, mortgaging the future, and courting "catastrophic and irreversible consequences" by failing to take effective steps to reduce greenhouse gas emissions into the atmosphere.

The Way It Is

Our Founders loved liberty, and hated despotic usurpations and abuses of power, so the brilliant Constitution they created featured checks and balances to prevent tyranny, and to ensure a more perfect union dedicated to an expansive vision of the general welfare of the people and their liberties and the nation's security. Fast forward to right now. See Clearly is an ultimate Big Picture exposé of the wide-ranging wrongdoing involved in the way the status quo is currently rigged. In seeing clearly, we realize how long a litany of corrupt schemes and illicit scams and unethical con jobs are being perpetuated by power abusing "conservatives" against We the People. By seeing clearly, we recognize the vital importance of wide-ranging farsighted progressive change.

It is my strongly felt conviction that we can no longer afford to allow conservatives to run roughshod over the greater good by ruthlessly dominating our churches and federal and state governments. We need to collectively pledge allegiance to unifying policies, greater good goals and smarter national priorities. We need to demand a peaceful revolution that will ensure our representatives give us more honorable and just national plans, and more inclusive and egalitarian national priorities. Our representatives in Congress should start by enacting legislation that effectively reverses the corruption-facilitating Citizen's United ruling that allows Big Money to corrupt our elections and lawmaking. And let's ratify the eminently fair-minded Equal Rights Amendment!

Only a misled minority of Americans consents to Republican governance today. People see that these usurpers of power prioritize profits over people's health and well-being, and that they are engaging in idiotic ecological insanity. People see the treachery of Big Money-bought puppet politicians, and the ultimate wrongheadedness of rationalizers who help domineering CEOs and crony capitalists impose their excessively profit-obsessed plans on the people while promoting a crusade against fairer treatment of working people and rashly assaulting public lands and the environment. Sensible folks see that all of this is crazily contrary to the health of providential living conditions for human beings and life on Earth.

The culture of corruption in Crazytown is spreading like a cancer. What we really need is a new reality that features better management. We need fairer leaders who are not pushing a divisive agenda and benefitting from partisan rancor and chaos in the administration of what should be proper governance. We need leaders who are less obsessed with exploiting workers and cheating consumers and using up our home planet's limited natural resources at the fastest possible rate. We need leaders who are not creating a Reality TV drama that allows them to get away with excessive profiteering and widespread malfeasance, and who are not propagating a tsunami of distractions from all the unscrupulous, self-serving, self-dealing, self-aggrandizing harmful goings on, right here and right now. The Big Brother government that George Orwell imagined in his dystopian novel 1984 sure has come in an ugly, cruel, deceitful, condemnation deserving, and transcendently irresponsible form! Let's reverse course. Instead of getting rid of all the vitally important functions of government and opening the barn doors to individual and corporate cost externalizing and wrongdoing, let's do the opposite!

Conclusion

Survival is the ultimate moral good for our kind, and Big Picture perspectives are needed to help ensure our human survival and flourishing. Such perspectives should be comprehensive, and they should take into account the best understandings of deep ecologists and scientists in every discipline, and of spiritual leaders. They also should not deny the most ethically aware worldviews, or the latest and most accurate scientific understandings.

Survival involves indefinitely sustained biological existence. We humans need to clearly recognize and respect the fact that we cannot continue to consume more than can be supplied by natural resources and regeneration in healthy ecosystems. The carrying capacity of damaged ecosystems is much less than that of healthy ones, so it is an overarching necessity for us to act to prevent harms to habitats. Otherwise, by upsetting the providential balance in nature, we will degrade the indispensable foundation of our flourishing and survival.

"Après moi, le deluge" attitudes did not work out well for the power-abusing nobility in France, because they cavalierly treated the masses too ruthlessly, provoking the French Revolution in 1789. And it sure didn't prove to be propitious for King Louis XVI, who was guillotined in January 1793. It was even indignantly worse for "Let them eat cake" Marie Antoinette, who met the same fate nine months later. Republican efforts today to roll back environmental protections, and to reject global responsibilities under the Paris Agreement on climate change, are essentially a dead end "Après nous, le deluge" attitude. Revolutionarily positive change must come!

Big Picture perspectives should be better informed by a Buddha-like triumvirate of Right Mindfulness and Right Understanding and Right Action. They should be guided by foresight and respect for the long-term greater good, like that imbued in a Bill of Rights for Future Generations. Greater concern should be given to social justice and environmental justice, and to the proper stewardship of Creation. More respect should be given to attitudes like the compassionate caring manifested by spiritual leaders like Jesus Christ and the Dalai Lama.

Pliny the Elder was a scholar, naturalist and philosopher in ancient Rome who regarded the noblest life in an interesting way. "True glory," he said "consists in doing what deserves to be written; in writing what deserves to be read; and in so living as to make the world happier for our living in it." Interesting idea. I, Dr. Tiffany B. Twain, am a relative nobody, and I regard the seeking of "glory" as a curiously odd purpose, either in gods or in mortals. This is especially true when perceived glory comes at the expense of others, or to their distinct detriment. I feel strongly that all people should try to pay forward some good deeds to our heirs in the future generations to help create improved and safer prospects for overall well-being for everyone.

Truly,

Dr. Tiffany B. Twain
